

NSE

An investment called India

NSE. The No. 1 derivatives exchange in the world.

NSE is now the world's largest derivatives exchange in terms of contracts traded for the calendar year 2019. We are also amongst the top 3 exchanges globally for cash market volumes. This is no mean achievement for an organisation which is just 25 years young.

“Market development is critical for financing the growth of India and for achieving our country's aspirations of becoming a $5 trillion economy. Robust capital markets are not only critical to finance our country's growth potential but to also create employment opportunities in financial services.”
